

Diane Hoskins
Co-CEO, Gensler

Diane Hoskins, FAIA, IIDA, is one of two Gensler Co-CEOs. As the world's largest architecture and design firm, Gensler has extensive experience designing groundbreaking projects in developing markets across Africa, the Middle East, China, India, Southeast Asia and Latin America. With more than 5,000 employees networked across 49 offices located in major cities around the world, Gensler brings a truly global focus to its mission of making the world a better place through the power of design.

As part of this mission, Gensler remains focused on forging new business partnerships, creating jobs and spurring economic development through its projects. Gensler's 31 practice areas support a diverse international portfolio spanning projects like the Shanghai Tower and Eko Atlantic in Lagos, the largest real estate development project in Africa. Gensler has worked on numerous other high profile, internationally significant projects such as the Lagos Hotel, the Avenues in Kuwait City, the Nanjing World Trade Center, the Dubai Financial Center, PNC Tower, King Khalid International Airport in Riyadh and the Gateway International Airport in Ogun, Nigeria.

As Co-CEO, Diane is a sought after media spokesperson and frequent speaker. Diane is widely recognized for her leading expertise in strategic planning and the global architecture, real estate development and construction industries. She has shared her expertise and research with top media outlets, including The New York Times, Harvard Business Review, Fast Company, Fortune, Financial Times, Bloomberg TV, and many global architecture and design trade publications. Diane has spoken at many premier conferences, including the Bloomberg Business/CEO Summit, the Economist Human Potential Conference, the RICS Summit of the Americas & World Built Environment forum, the MIT World Real Estate Forum, the Greater Washington Board of Trade Outlook Conference and the Architectural Record Innovation Conference.
